Galileo Academy of Science & Technology

December, 2011

Issue 1

Hello and welcome to the first edition of Futurama News. Futurama is the name of the After School Program at Galileo Academy of Science & Technology. Futurama News will give you an inside perspective of students accomplishment in the after school program.

As Site Coordinator, my vision is that every program created after school is a program created by our students. Futurama's mission is to provide a safe environment for all students to succeed through enrichment, academics, and recreation. Enjoy the Futurama News!

First Annual School House Breaks!

Futurama Presents

Thursday, December 15 4-6pm.
Galileo Auditorium. Cost: Free

A Showcase of Middle School & High School Break Dancers

music provided by the Futurama DJs

Futurama's first annual School House Breaks will be occurring Thursday, December 15th at 4pm in the auditorium. The event will showcase San Francisco high school break dancers as well as Futurama's Hip Hop class. There will be live DJing provided by the students of Futurama, as well as a few guest performances from local break dancers. The event is free and open to everyone. Come by and show your support for the dancers!

Street Mural Art Workshop

In the beginning of November Futurama hosted two street mural art workshops. Led by I:AM, a professional urban/street art gallery, the boys created two murals that are now on display here at Galileo. To create these murals the boys collaborated together and came up with a cohesive concept. Each mural took a few hours to complete with all of the boys working on different parts of it. David Rosales, one of the participants, says he enjoys this style of art because "there's no one way of doing it. It's your own style. Everyone can contribute and show off their skills."

DJ Class Brings the Beats!

Walking into Futurama the first thing you notice is the music. This is because everyday the DJ Class, led by Marc Bayangos, meets in Room 119. In these meetings the students learn how to mix and produce music on actual turn tables. Not only do they get to practice here in Futurama, but they also get to go apply these skills out in the world. The students in the class have DJed for multiple school dances in San Francisco. The most recent dance being the Halloween dance for Marina Middle School. For providing their service, each student was paid

For students who love to work with music this class is the perfect opportunity for them. Marcos Gonzalez a DJ students states, "I have a passion for music and I want to get closer to it." Seeing as how Marcos has DJed five school dances, it seems he is getting his wish.

DJ Class is open for any student willing to learn, and meets on Mondays and Wednesdays. Come visit room 119.

Healthy Snack

By

www.amazinghealth.com

The next time you are in need of a snack try these healthy alternatives. If you usually eat chips, go for pretzels or raw vegetable sticks instead. If you normally crave ice cream try switching to a fresh fruit smoothie. If you want cookies, try a granola bar or roasted nuts and seeds. Lastly, instead of your usual soda try preparing an ice water with slices of cucumber or fresh fruit.
